WHAT CHANGED IN VERSION 2026

Business language throughout

Core concepts explained for decision-making rather than for engineers.

Operating model as a decision

Centralized, federated, or hybrid treated as the structural call it actually is.

Workforce readiness included

Roles, job redesign, and organizational readiness rather than technology alone.

01 · PROGRAM OVERVIEW

From scattered pilots to a funded agenda

A two-day executive programme covering AI opportunity, governance, operating-model decisions, workforce readiness, risk, and value realization. It is built for leaders who have experimentation happening across the business and no coherent agenda holding it together.

The programme moves from identifying and scoring high-value use cases, through quantifying ROI and choosing an operating model, into why AI initiatives fail and how leaders prevent it. It ends with a capstone: a full AI strategy for your own organization.

THE AGILE36 DIFFERENCE

Taught in business language by people who have led enterprise transformations, and it ends in a capstone: a full AI strategy for your own organization with the use cases and ROI modelled.

Every class is live, capped for discussion, and led by practitioners who have led enterprise AI and transformation programs.

Hands-on, not lecture. The class runs on activities, small-group discussion, role-play, and a running case study — including 4 AI activities where you write prompts, critique the output, and edit it into something a real team could use.

02 · WHY THIS CERTIFICATION, NOW

Pilots are cheap. A strategy is not

Most enterprises now have AI activity in a dozen places and no view of which of it matters. The expensive failure is not a pilot that does not work — it is a year of pilots that were never going to scale, funded because nobody scored them. These two days exist to produce that scoring, and the agenda that follows from it.

07 · AI IN THIS COURSE

A strategy, not a set of pilots

The whole programme is AI leadership. Two hands-on workshops and a capstone mean you leave with a strategy for your own organization rather than notes about someone else's.

Use-case discovery workshop MODULE 8

Work your own organization's opportunities into a scored, prioritized list rather than a wish list of pilots.

Value modeling simulation MODULE 8

Model the ROI on your highest-value cases using KPI frameworks for automation, productivity, and cycle time.

Operating model choice MODULE 6

Decide between centralized, federated, and hybrid — the structural call that determines whether the strategy survives contact with the organization.

Capstone strategy MODULE 12

Build and defend a full AI strategy for your organization, with use cases identified and their ROI modelled.

PROMPTING TECHNIQUES YOU'LL TAKE AWAY

- Score and prioritize use cases by value, feasibility, and ROI
- Build an investment case a board will actually fund
- Choose an operating model that fits how your organization works
- Apply delivery frameworks that prevent AI project failure
- Redesign roles and readiness around what AI changes

RESPONSIBLE AI

A full topic, not a disclaimer. You'll work through common AI risks and the three aspects of responsible use:

- ✓ Trustworthy AI — reliable enough to base a decision on
- ✓ Explainable AI — you can say why it produced that
- ✓ Human-centric AI — the person stays accountable
