WHAT CHANGED IN VERSION 6.0

Discovery gets the time

Continuous exploration, market segmentation, and empathy-driven design each get their own module rather than sharing one.

Vision through to delivery

Strategy and vision connect forward into roadmaps, value delivery, and innovation in the value stream.

Exam prep built in

The final module is review, practice questions, and Q&A — your first exam attempt is included.

01 · PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Product management at enterprise scale

Agile Product Management is the deep end of the SAFe product track. Over three days you work through the whole arc — exploring markets and users, segmenting where to play, building empathy through Lean UX, setting strategy and vision, forecasting with roadmaps, and delivering value through the Agile Release Train.

It is the natural step after POPM. Where POPM teaches you to operate the role on a train, APM teaches you to decide what the train should be building in the first place — and to make that case to the people funding it.

THE AGILE36 DIFFERENCE

Design thinking, segmentation, vision, and roadmaps are taught as product work — not a SAFe glossary.

Every class is live, capped for discussion, and led by a certified SAFe® Practice Consultant.

02 · WHY THIS CERTIFICATION, NOW

Deciding what to build is harder than building it

Most enterprises can ship. Far fewer can say confidently why they are shipping this rather than that. Agile Product Management is about closing that gap — replacing opinion and internal politics with customer research, market segmentation, hypothesis-driven discovery, and a roadmap the business can actually read.
